Chain of Command

To reduce possible confusion, identify the chain of command early in the development stage. Provide a copy of the chain of command to school administrators and school foodservice personnel. Identify the Emergency Response Team coordinator(s) or other school officials who will determine when to activate the plan. Include a calling system to ensure a method for contacting everyone. Post the chain of command in a common location at each foodservice operation. Designate specific responsibilities for each of the Emergency Response Team coordinators.

Community Relief Organizations

Community Relief Organizations Form F-1

Community Relief Organizations

Questions from the community relief organization to the school district

*If the school foodservice is designated as a shelter, a contact person from the community relief organization will begin to assess the situation and determine the needs of the community. It is important to have as much information available as possible regarding the foodservice operation. Relief organization personnel may ask the following questions:

1. Who is the designated disaster relief administrator in the school district?

2. What is the telephone number and address of the school that is serving as the community relief shelter?

3. Is there a basic floor plan for the foodservice operation, school, and restrooms locations?
